INFORMATION BY INTERPRETATION

In order to develop additional information of real significance from the basic data published in this ALMANAC, readers are invited to make full use of the journalistic technique of information by interpretation—the key to deriving meaningful detail from skeletal facts. For example, being aware that two or more different political parties have representation in a cabinet gives a broad idea of a government's strength, stability, and policies. A notation indicating a government's caretaker status or recent cabinet changes leads to considerations of potential shifts in political or international orientation. The field of comparative government can be opened by just noting the scope and meaning of official titles, following oscillations among Cabinet portfolios or being cognizant of the order in which positions are listed. Such relatively obvious data as the fact that a country has two capitals may lead to an investigation of that state's history, geographical divisions, or climatological circumstances. All in all, information by interpretation is a challenging business to the imaginative and the curious; it is capable, of course, of development far beyond the few examples given here.

EDITOR'S NOTES

EVENTS OF NOTE: During the past three months, international attention turned again toward the Caribbean. Cuba began grappling with the staggering economic problems arising out of its dismissal from the inter-American system for political deviation. Another severe crisis in the Dominican Republic was solved when Rafael Bonnelly traded arrest for the Presidency with General Pedro Echavarría. August 6th was announced as Jamaica's independence date as Trinidad and Tobago sought a parallel accommodation from the United Kingdom. On the shore, Britain's willingness to negotiate a settlement with Guatemala over British Honduras ran counter to Guatemala's demands for the return of Belize first. The fact that both are one in the same territory has done little to simplify the hundred year old dispute . . . The Congo faded from the headlines, but not from attention, as the disputants in Katanga and Leopoldville settled into detailed negotiations on political integration. In Algeria, the negotiations ended, but the tense struggle for power became as desperate as it has been tragic . . . The mere political existence of Switzerland has always had a significant impact on the conduct of foreign policy: The Swiss not only host a multitude of regular and ad hoc international gatherings annually, but also serve as diplomatic representatives for some 20 states—from Togo in Nigeria to Romania in Spain . . . The little understood, hardly developed, and most perfunctory Union of Arab States dissolved recently when the United Arab Republic and Yemen decided to end the almost fictional organization. . . . Sergei Lapin, replaced as Foreign Minister of the Russian Federation by former Ambassador to the U.S. Mikhail Menshikov, has been appointed USSR Deputy Foreign Minister . . . The novel Western Somoan approach to independence features a continuing arrangement with New Zealand to handle foreign policy and retention of political power by the heads of extended family groups.

EVENTS TO WATCH: Canada has been giving every indication of preparing for as yet unannounced federal election this Spring . . . Ruanda-Urundi will soon be released from its trusteeship status under Belgian control. A republican Ruanda separate from a monarchical Urundi will then join the community of independent states . . . Tanganyika is expected shortly to divest itself of ties to the British Crown while retaining membership in the Commonwealth . . . The constant demand for political adjustment also found Malta seeking a new status with Britain, Nyasaland demanding separation from Rhodesia, and the Isle of Man requesting more internal control . . .

will be difficult given the general absence of the economic viability among the islands and Britain's belated interest in this area.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS: The Casablanca Bloc's penchant for functional sub-organizations continued unabated with the formation of an African Common Market system . . . While most international meetings fail to produce the significant results promised by advanced reports and envisioned by a hopeful public, perhaps the Commonwealth Prime Ministers Conference opening in London on September 10 will prove the exception. At stake will be Britain's entry into the European Economic Community and the future of the Commonwealth . . . European political integration without the British and their conventional supporters, Belgium and the Netherlands, is now referred to as FRALIT (from the first two letters of the French for France, Germany, and Italy). It adds just another term to what may become the most significant political discussion of the 1960's. Luxembourg remains discreetly quiet in these debates in the hope of becoming the administrative capital for the Community's operating bureaucracy now spread all over Western Europe . . . Dr. Weil's interesting study of the International Court of Justice brings into clearer perspective the Court's recent decision on the Temple of Preah Vihear. As the Cambodian claim to the disputed site was being sustained, Thailand, in a peak of nationalistic nonsense, boycotted subsequent SEATO meetings (Dean Acheson of the U.S. represented Cambodia in Court), cutoff trade relations with Poland (ICJ President Bohan Winarski is Polish), and reportedly expressed utter disbelief that justices from nations allied with Thailand could have voted against her position . . . The International Labor Organization elected Alexandre Parodi of France as Chairman for the coming year.

FACTS AND OPINIONS: The fact that in some countries certain families were nearly blanketing all important government positions with their relations was noted in the ALMANAC of April, 1961. We mentioned then the Kennedys and the Macmillans; the Bandaranaiques in Ceylon and the Slims of Tunisia. While these families have been slowly expanding their power, some more examples have recently come to light. Now very much in a family way is Cuba with brothers Fidel and Raul in the top two positions. At the top in Laos is Prince Souvanna Phouma and his half-brother Prince Souvanaphong. In Viet Nam, not only are the President and Vice President brothers, but the latter's wife is said to be the most powerful figure in the national legislature. All this new evidence by way of saying that blood in republics is just as thick as it is in monarchies.

THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE:

Advisory Opinion on Payment of Special Assessments

by DR. GORDON WEIL

The International Court of Justice, one of the principal organs of the United Nations, is now faced with making what will perhaps be its most important decision. The General Assembly has asked the fifteen-member World Court to render an advisory opinion as to whether special U.N. assessments to support operations in the Gaza strip and in the Congo are binding on all Members.

As the successor to the Permanent Court of International Justice, an organ of the League of Nations, the Hague Tribunal has a history extending over forty years. During this period, it has been called upon to render decisions in contentious cases and to provide advisory opinions to the League and the U.N. and their subsidiary organs. In the first instance, two or more states have agreed to submit a given question to the Court for adjudication and to abide by the decision. They may submit the case on the basis of a special agreement for that case only or by accepting the compulsory jurisdiction of the Court for all cases which may arise over a certain period.

While the decisions on interstate disputes are binding, the Court is occasionally asked to give its opinion on an issue confronting the U.N.; these opinions are not binding. Nevertheless the great prestige of the Court has a considerable influence on the other U.N. organs.

The Court's advisory opinions have dealt with such matters as the status of the former Mandate, South-West Africa, the interpretation of certain peace treaties, the powers of the U.N. Administrative Tribunal, reservations to the Genocide Convention, and membership in the Intergovernmental Maritime Consultative Organization, a specialized agency of the U.N. Only two decisions have directly concerned all Members in their relation to the Organization.

The first of these cases concerned the conditions of admission of a state to membership. The I.C.J. was asked whether a U.N. member was legally able to make its consent to the admission of a new Member contingent on conditions not expressly included in the Charter — namely whether its consent could depend on the condition that states . . . In Asia, an agreement between Malaya, the Philippines, and Thailand was signed in February for economic and cultural cooperation . . . Among the already well established international organizations, developments came even more rapidly. The world-wide attention given to the withdrawal of South Africa's application for re-admission to the Commonwealth of Nations plus the acceptance of Cyprus into the organization served to emphasize the Commonwealth's political and economic significance . . . The European Community has tentatively agreed to meet in Bonn on May 19 to continue planning toward political unity. The degree and nature of such unity remains the outstanding question between the Dutch and the other five member states. It is apparently also involved in the ultimate relationship between the Community and EFTA. (Note that EFTA—the Outer Seven—will become almost eight with the less than full participation of Finland in a newly created Joint Council) . . . Dahomey, the Ivory Coast, Niger, and Upper Volta, former colonies of France, decided their association with that country should continue outside the French Community . . . Foreign Ministers of the Western world may be hard pressed to meet all their commitments in the up-coming months. CENTO will be in council on April 26, NATO on May 8, and the OAS on May 24 . . . Paul-Henri Spaak resigned the Secretary-Generalship of NATO in order to reenter Belgian politics. The Netherland's Dirk U. Stikker remains the leading choice for the position . . . Although Mauritania has not yet been accepted into the United Nations, it was granted membership in the UN-sponsored Economic Commission for Africa, much to the distress of Morocco.

FACTS OF INTEREST: The appointment of Robert Kennedy to a position in his brother's cabinet highlighted other politically-oriented familial events in the world. Mrs. Bandaranaike's cousin by marriage has recently assumed the duties of parliamentary spokesman for the Ceylonese government in the House of Representatives; the son of the Tunisian President has just become Ambassador to the United States; and Prime Minister MacMillan's son, a member of Parliament, has now become sharply critical of his father's government . . . To separate domestic from international crisis is becoming nearly impossible in today's world. The repercussions of nearly every major "internal" problem affects the international policies of nearly every other country, reverberating in capitals and secretariats around the world. What is to Portugal an internal difficulty in Angola has reached the UN; what have been to Rhodesia and South Africa matters of domestic interest has touched the United Kingdom, the Commonwealth, and every independent state in Africa. What all nations must finally conclude is that the word has changed, that "intervention" has lost its traditional connotation, and that old views mean little in new times.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES

ABD BEN BELLA: Premier of Algeria . . . A Warrant Officer in a Moroccan regiment during World War II, he began his efforts to free Algeria from France in 1946 . . . Imprisoned for his revolutionary activities 1949-1952 . . . In prison, he directed the Algerian National Movement from Libya 1952-53 . . . Recaptured by France, he kept abreast of the Algerian War and FLN activities from various Paris jail cells . . . Freed in March, he was a secret negotiator in peace accords . . . He formed the Political Bureau to rally those others wanting an Algeria completely independent of France . . . Achieved his goal when moderate Ben Khedda relinquished his position and power.

ALEXANDER BUSTAMANTE: Prime Minister of recently independent Jamaica . . . Now 77, he served a long political apprenticeship as a soldier, unionist, and union organizer . . . Formed Jamaican Labor Party in 1943 . . . Served 9 years as Minister of Communications on Jamaica's Executive Council . . . Chief Minister 1953-55 . . . Commander, British Section of Caribbean Commission 1950-55 . . . Knighted in 1955 . . . Bustamante's cousin, Norman Manley, leader of Jamaica's opposition political party . . . Born of a British father and a Jamaican mother, he long ago changed his name from Clark to Bustamante to avoid racial discrimination . . . Led successful campaign against West Indies Federation.

PAUL GOIRE KAYIBANDA: President of Rwanda . . . Leading African journalist and politician for years . . . Studied theology at a Roman Catholic seminary in Kigali before becoming secretary of local school inspector . . . Edited French language review as well as only Bantu language newspaper . . . Founded Hutu Social Movement and later the Democratic Republican Front in 1959 . . . Helped divide former Belgian Trusteeship of Ruanda-Urundi into two separate and independent states . . . At 38, his experience, knowledge, and opinions will be factors of consequence in this new land for years to come.

ERIC E. WILLIAMS: Prime Minister of Trinidad and Tobago . . . Studied at Harvard University before becoming Professor of Social and Political Science at Howard University . . . Served in a variety of capacities (Director of Research, Secretary of Agriculture) with the Caribbean Commission between 1946-56 . . . Became Trinidad's Chief Minister in 1956, holding concurrent portfolios of Minister of Finance and Minister of Planning and Development . . . Widely read and traveled, Dr. Williams has written Negro in the Caribbean, Capitalism and Slavery among others . . . He has been editor of the Caribbean Quarterly . . . Was leading figure, before independence, in West Indies Federation.

P R E F A C E

The 1921 edition of The LAWYERS' LIST has been compiled with all of the scrupulous care customarily employed by its publisher in the effort to maintain the standards of this publication as regards accuracy and reliability. It is still impossible to present a reliable list of lawyers for Germany, Russia, Austria, or for several of the other European countries. The compilation for Great Britain is now quite dependable, while the compilations for the other foreign countries included in this work are as trustworthy as it has been possible for us to make them.

The LAWYERS' LIST is a selected list of Legal Practitioners, international in scope. It is assembled with the most painstaking care; with assistance and counsel from authoritative and responsible sources. It serves as a guide in the selection of Counsel, and is published for the use of Members of the Bar, the legal departments of Corporations, and others requiring the services of legal correspondents.

In the present edition, for the year 1921, the work of revision has been accomplished as the result of extensive investigation, covering every city and town of the several countries represented in this volume. The most careful and comprehensive inquiry has been made in respect to the character and standing of the Members of the Bar named in The LAWYERS' LIST, and it is believed that this work contains only the names of able, responsible lawyers who are deserving of the fullest confidence.

Eminent Members of the Bar in the principal cities and towns of the United States, for years associated with The LAWYERS' LIST, have aided in the compilation for this country. They have given the publisher of The LAWYERS' LIST the benefit of their knowledge and experience, and their familiar acquaintance with many mes of Counsel in Patent, Trade-Mark and Causes have been assembled with the assist-any of the most eminent lawyers engaged in ice.

ada and Great Britain the conditions with to Patent and Trade-Mark practice differ from h prevail in the United States. There, Patent so-called, are frequently expert draftsmen and
and conduct the business of procuring patents,
are not, as a rule, members of the legal profession. Solicitors in Canada and Great Britain do not specialize in Patent practice as do Members of the Bar in this country, certain firms of General Practicians have had large experience in the conduct of Trade-Mark and Copyright litigation, and are qualified to undertake any commissions relating of this character. We present as Counsel in Trade-Mark and Copyright causes, in all the names of Members of the Bar.

Methods employed in compiling The LAWYERS' of the United States have obtained, also, in the
of the names of Practitioners in Central and America, Africa, Asia, Australasia and Europe.
Names given have been assembled with the aid of English and Canadian law firms which have consented to retain Counsel in these countries; and with the added assistance of the principal foreign bankers, and others.

indebted, as well, to the foreign representatives of the United States for such information as they could convey, and for useful data from the Department of Commerce and Labor, at Washington.

Truly acknowledge, in particular, the valued aid
